1993 :

THE BIRTH OF WAVERLEY

The evident and clear gap in the market for high quality kitchen equipment in Sri Lanka and the progressive technological development he foresaw then, led to him placing his faith, his career and his personal savings in the Company he formed – Waverley Pvt Ltd in the year of 1993.

His wide international exposure and participation in several exhibitions, while fulfilling his senior management responsibilities at Le Meridien Hotels, had given him a clear and precise idea of the way forward for his fledgling business. He recognised that his new and challenging journey had to begin with the best of the best in world equipment supplies, and inspired by their futuristic orientation and technologically advanced equipment, he reached the doorstep of RATIONAL AG, a German company who were already showing the world the way forward for modern commercial kitchens. This began his tactical imports of high quality kitchen equipment into Sri Lanka, starting with Rational's Combi-Ovens.

Till date Waverley supplies innovative intelligent kitchen products to the Sri Lankan restaurant, foodservice and hospitality industry, bringing the very latest global cutting-edge brands in catering equipment from global innovators behind these industry-transforming solutions to Sri Lanka. Waverley has since shown how technology will fundamentally shift the way food is made in the future.

THE WAVERLEY JOURNEY

Waverley lagged in its early years trying to convince hoteliers about the benefits of technology while working against an inconsistent tourism sector. Waverley's management albeit saw an opportunity to address another area of equipment supply moving rapidly towards automation – the laundry.

Club Palm in Marawila was the first significant contract at LKR 20 million for laundry equipment, and Waverley was on its way. With their partnership in place with US based Maxi for supply, their second contract, this time for LKR 50 million, with John Keells was quick to follow.

In 2002, when Waverley bagged the order for Hilton Colombo's proposed fine-dining restaurant "Spoons", it was clear that strategic partnerships being built by Waverley would hold it in good stead for future high end projects. The LKR 30 million contract; in the face of stiff competition from international companies and Hilton's exacting standards, was testimony to the faith and perseverance of Waverley in pursuing its goals.

Successful execution of this project positioned Waverley firmly as the "go-to" local company for kitchen equipment of international standards. When Cinnamon Grand wanted to modernise its 12000 sqft kitchen, Waverley was the natural choice for this LKR 100 million project, followed by many more prestigious and challenging installations including the USD 6.7 million Sri Lankan Catering project.

OUR FOUNDER

The hallmark traits of a successful sportsman. And succeed in sports did Mr Gnana Samaratunga, the founder of Waverley. Be it as a Captain of the First Eleven Cricket, or as Captain of the Athletic Team at Nalanda Vidyalaya, Colombo or with sheer perseverance and absolutely no Rugby background, to play successfully along with the famed B's – Bean, Bowsfield and the captain, Bretherton for the Darrawella Planters Sports Club. The same traits which have seen him steer Waverley from its humble beginnings to its position of strength in the industry today.

Beginning his career as a planter in 1964, and reaching the position of a Superintendent within a period of 10 years at Ms Whitall Boustead Pvt Ltd Tea estates, Mr Samaratunga moved instinctively to the hospitality industry in 1979, which was to later become his calling, becoming eventually Director, Marketing & Sales, Le Meridien Hotels.

It was from this position that Mr Samaratunga made the biggest professional decision of his career to start his own business for the professional catering industry, under Waverley Pvt Ltd.

Mr Samaratunga is a happily married man for the last 42 and lives in Colombo with his wife. His 2 children, son a hotel and daughter, an accountant with international work experience are well placed to continue in the further development of the business.

The secret to his successful domestic life, he believes, is as Gerald R Ford said "Tell the truth, work hard and come to dinner on time".
